Symbolically portrayed in the above caricature are two adults, almost hit by two bombs of rumors from the Internet. Wearing scared expressions, the two figures are trying to escape, but it seems no way for them to get out of the coverage of these gossips. And there is a caption saying “Cyber Rumors”.

What the drawer wants to implicate is that Internet rumors are so destructive that anyone can hardly bear but nobody can absolutely isolated from them. Take celebrities for example, if descriptions of their certain behaviors and words have been put into the Internet, which is available to the public, they may be resisted or even abused via commenting or relaying. Cyber rumors can impose moral kidnapping on people involved, making victims suffer physically and mentally. In addition, social ability, even the country’s reputation may be upset, and netizens’ trust to the Internet will also be hurt.

In terms of shortcomings cyber rumors carry mentioned, the government should publish relevant laws and regulations with all haste and ensure their enforcement on creators of Internet rumors. Besides, institutions concerned should appoint specialists to check regularly to eliminate the spread of cyber rumors. Furthermore, any citizen surfing on the Internet should strengthen their moral cultivation, rejecting to erroneous cyber information on their initiative. Only through efforts of all dimensions can cyber rumors fail to harm individuals and human society.

As is vividly depicted in this compelling and thought-provoking cartoon, a young boy is riding a bike instead of driving his car to the destination on the wide street in a sunny day. If we study it further, it is easy to figure out that the boy is quite eager to lead a low-carbon life for the purpose of creating a green homeland. Accordingly, what this far-reaching picture depicts demonstrates a common phenomenon in the contemporary society, which deserves further analysis.

Several functions unveiled are too general and ambiguous, but the following two, at least from my perspective, could better illustrate the importance of this kind of quality. The main role I firmly believe is that a low-carbon lifestyle reduces greenhouse gases and saves resources. It lowers our exposure to chemicals and pollution. In addition, it is also widely acknowledged that walking or cycling instead of driving is a great way to improve health, fitness and well-being for the growing number of people with sedentary lifestyles, cutting the risk of heart disease, strokes and diabetes at the same time as cutting carbon emissions, noise, congestion and pollution.

According to the above analysis, we should realize the importance of living a low-carbon lifestyle and then act on it. All in all, it is high time to strengthen people's awareness in this aspect. If we are all of one mind to put this right, there is no doubt that changes will follow.

It is so eye-catching a photo in which a strong man is hewing out of a hard stone a piece of priceless gold holding an axe with his firm hands. If we give it a careful observation, it is not difficult to figure out that there is a caption below the picture, saying “Only through innovation can we make progress; conservation means regression” .

What the drawer has conveyed in the picture can be clearly and accurately summarized is follows: innovation plays a vital role in our daily life. At first, the main function of this quality is there is no doubt that innovation could serve as a guide to completing the target of our life. Furthermore, we also should notice that innovation is a basic requirement for a person, a company or a nation to succeed in this high-paced fiercely competitive society.

In terms of the above analysis, if nobody develops and expands this quality, it will become difficult for us to succeed in school and life. All in all, it is high time to strengthen people's awareness in this aspect. Only in this way can we make the best of innovation and embrace a bright future.

What is symbolically depicted in the caricature is that an elegant woman is addicted to shopping online, and there are a sea of products lying on the ground. From the portrayal, we can conclude that the painter wants to convey such a message: In our contemporary society, an increasing amounts of consumers are more willing to shop online.

Personally, it is my belief that some reasons could account for such issue. One of the possible causes is that online shopping is much more convenient than going to the physical stores. There is no need for people to worry about traffic, weather or other factors, all they have to do is to pick up their phones and click on the shopping app. It is also owing to the fact that due to the fast pace of modern society, people attach greater importance to the very idea of time saving and thus online shopping is a awesome choice for them. Another contributing cause is that there are a large number of online stores and consumers can choose the most satisfying product according to their needs.

Online shopping is crucial for every individual. With its seemingly magic power, it can not only promote Internet economy, but serves as an efficient instrument for individuals to provide more choices for customers with different purchasing power.
